If you want to make OpenCart the main page, you would need to upload files to the root folder of their website. The right hand side is blank at the moment because the target website hasn't been connected to. The directory needs to be left open as we continue. hooks) instead: Or, you can still use the Opencart override engine (by a 3rd-party developer) though. I'd like to find a way of just replacing the functions changed/added, but the OOP approach in OpenCart doesn't easily allow this. If there are red marks on #3 or #4, there might have been an issue with uploading the files using the FTP client. Unzipping the zip file will uncompress the OpenCart archive so the files can be accessed by a web server. But I mean a development time only. This is a significantly deeper folder structure to the admin view file because of themes. Connecting to the Site Manager Under the "File" menu, "Site Manager" should be opened in Filezilla. Email Sign Up or sign in with Google Facebook Best way to modify OpenCart without touching Core and VQMOD/OCMOD Ask Question up vote 3 down vote favorite Is there a better way then using VQMOD/OCMOD to change OpenCart's core files? Is there some "overrides" folder exists so that I can simply create any PHP file corresponding to the file structure and simply override a core file? (Like it is possible in PrestaShop and Magento). You may call your controller file mymodule.php. This is standard for OpenCart view files. You should contact your hosting service if there are any issues with this. If you want the shop to be on the main page, for example www.shopnow.com, you must upload the contents of the "upload" folder, but not the "upload" folder itself. After that you can right click the zip file and select "Extract" button and done. You can use these functions to create and remove any structures (such as database tables or config settings) required by your module. shareimprove this answer edited Jul 25 '16 at 0:00 The Sexiest Man in Jamaica 1,40412034 answered Oct 7 '15 at 16:18 Nikhil Chaudhary 453416 Years down the line, it's still an issue. Using these model functions should be preferred over reinventing the wheel. License You may read through the license, check "I agree to the license", and press "Continue". My modification function looks like this: function modification($filename) { $moddirs = array( DIRMODIFICATION, dirname(DIRSYSTEM).'/override/' // do this second in case there are other over-rides needed for modules ); foreach($moddirs as $mod) { if (!defined('DIRCATALOG')) { $file = $mod . Basic directory structure The basic file structure for your module will be divided into two sections, the admin and the catalog folders. You may call your view file mymodule.tpl. You will find four folders within the admin/ folder: controller view language model All modules will require at least a single file in each of the view and controller folders.
